Attorney General John Ashcroft
US Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20530

Dear Mr. Ashcroft:

I am highly opposed to excessive government intervention in the business world. It is no surprise, then, that I am opposed to the antitrust lawsuit that was brought against Microsoft three years ago. Now that a settlement has been reached in this case, I hope you will support it, as well, and allow Microsoft to put this episode behind them.

Microsoft has offered many compromises as part of this settlement. The company has agreed not to have any contractual restrictions with companies it deals with regarding the sale of non-Microsoft products. Microsoft has also agreed to build all future operating systems in such a manner that non-Microsoft products can easily be promoted on them.

Despite the fairness of the settlement and the compromises made by Microsoft, some opponents want this case brought back to court. I believe it is your duty to make sure they do not succeed.

Sincerely,
